

Where is the Spirit leading you today and why?

We hear lots of stories in the Bible of how God's people were led by the Spirit to do some amazing things - the patriarchs, the prophets, the apostles. We can be thankful for them and leave it at that. But maybe God's Spirit is leading us to be engaged in his unfolding plan of bringing his good news to the world - especially to our corner of the world. The Spirit blows like a gust of wind through our lives, releasing us to bring new life to others.

Artist In Worship!!

During the course of both services on 28th April, an artist (Jacqui) from our congregation will be painting a 'Holy Spirit inspired' image. Here is her request: "I have had a strong thought/ feeling/ sense that I am meant to paint something at church. It is of a dragonfly and small flowers going to seed. The words that go with it are: There are hundreds ready, ready and waiting for a gust to be released." She believes that it is a word about the year and people coming to Jesus, but others may have more interpretation. She is going to trust that God will guide this process.

COME ON IN!!
